Firm in the right the Printing Press should be, The tyrant's foe, the champion of the free; Faithful and constant to its sacred trust— Calm in its utterance, in its judgments just; Wise in its teaching; incorrupt and strong To speed the right and to denounce the wrong.

PULASKI, TENN.

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 15th, 1886.

[CONCLUDED FROM FIRST PAGE.]

fact in excess of $25,000. The same law and rulings are applicable to sub-contractors.

38. A miner may employ one person in the business of mining for coal, silver, &c., without license.

39. The liability of peddlers and commission brokers to license tax depends upon facts done, and is not effected by the fact the party is employed by others and is acting merely as an agent.

40. Watches and watch chains do not come within the definition of jewelry, and they therefore be sold under a common pedlar's license.

41. A retail dealer in liquors wishing to close up business may sell out his whole stock at one auction sale to different purchasers, or may sell the whole at private sale to one purchaser, without license, as wholesale dealer in liquors. But if he sell to several different persons at private sale in quantities exceeding three gallons he becomes liable to the wholesale dealer in liquors.

42. Farmers who produce annually butter, cheese, sugar, charcoal, &c., in excess of $1,000 at one place should take license as manufacturers. They may, however, sell all products of their own farms in the manner of peddlers without peddlers' license.

43. Persons traveling about the country as the agents of manufacturers or dealers, seeking orders for goods as agents of one person or firm only, such as salaried clerks or men hired by the month, should not be required to take licenses as commercial brokers.

All parts of decision No. 159 inconsistent herewith are hereby revoked.

At a recent meeting of factory hands in England, it was resolved that workmen might never be content till they get "eight hours' work, eight hours' play, eight hours' sleep, eight shillings a day."

An exchange tells of a man who stopped his newspaper on Saturday and the next morning died. A terrible warning.

A new invention, paper socks, is another combined. The inventors say they last just as long as an ordinary pair and keep clean, and they can be made so light that their cost will not exceed that of washing.

A lady in Pike county, Missouri, has called her baby Veto. Good luck to the lady and her baby.

By laying a piece of charcoal on a burn or scald immediately. By leaving charcoal on one hour the wound is healed. It has been demonstrated on several occasions. The remedy certainly deserves a trial.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN died on the fourth anniversary of the day on which he issued his proclamation calling for 75,000 volunteers—April 15, 1861.

ELDER LEAVES if strewn among corn or other grain when it is put into the bin, will effectually preserve it from the ravages of the weevil. The juice will also kill bed bugs and maggots. Insects never touch elder bushes. The leaves of the elder scattered over cabbages, cucumbers, squashes and other plants subject to the ravages of insects, effectually shield them.

The latest style of bonnet has turned up at Richmond, Indiana. It is described as consisting of two straws, tied together with a blue ribbon on the top of the head, and red tassels suspended at each of the four ends of the straw. Price $19.

Do not judge a person from first impressions; it is not liberal; often your warmest friends prove to be those that you are prejudiced against.

Opinions of Distinguished Business Men.

"Advertise your business. Do not hide your light under a bushel. Whenever your calling or occupation may be, if it needs support from the public, advertise it thoroughly and efficiently in some shape or other, that will arrest public attention. I freely confess that what success I have had in life may fairly be attributed more to the public press than to nearly all the other causes combined. There may possibly be occupations that do not require advertising, but I cannot well conceive what they are."—J. T. BARNES.

"I have always considered advertising liberally and long—to be the great medium of success in business, and the prudence to wealth. And I have always made it an invariable rule, too, to advertise in the fullest times, a long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out; as by keeping my business continually before the public, I have secured me many sales that I otherwise would have lost."—STEPHEN GIRARD.

"Whatever success I may have had in business I owe mainly to continuous advertising, and I deem it good policy to advertise long in the same papers. From a close observation I am fully convinced that it is impossible to make much headway in any kind of business, without the facilities which the press alone can give."—JACOB RINGWAY.

"My motto through life has been, work and advertise. In business, advertising is the true philosopher's stone, that turns whatever it touches to gold. I have advertised much, both in the weekly as well as the daily papers; nor have I found that those of the largest circulation of either class, benefited me the most."—JOHN JACOB ASTOR.

"Advertise! advertise! advertise! This is the life of trade; and standing advertisements, you will find, will prove the most remunerative. At least I have found it so during my business career thus far; for should you withdraw but a single week from the paper in which you are accustomed to advertise, you paper in which you are accustomed to advertise, you will find that it would be the time when some would be new customers will look into the paper for your business address, and not finding it, you will lose several profitable sales."—WILLIAM GAY.
